I'm trying to get CrossPointings.org off the ground as a worship resource site (note to self, must write book). So, I figured I'd join throng and create my own web button for the site. So, if you copy this code and put it in on your site:

```

```

You'll get this nifty image:

If you've got a desire to see CrossPointings.org grow up - I'd certainly appreciate the link.

Oh, and for those reading this blog in my old location - while my feed is still showing up in it's old position, all my blog entries are originating from: <http://wezlo.blogspot.com>.
